

HEALTH EDUCATION AT KURATAU SCHOOL

May 2022

Kia ora koutou

The Ministry of Education requires all schools to consult with their community on the school's delivery of the Health Curriculum. Health education is learning that is based around hauora (wellbeing), attitudes and values, relationships, body development and health promotion. Where possible this learning is integrated across all areas of the curriculum and we invite community consultation via responses to the Health Education Survey. Your feedback will help us to gather your thoughts and ideas about our Health Curriculum and help us to further develop our programmes.

The Health and Physical Education Curriculum is divided into four strands:

1. Personal Health and Physical Development - in which students develop the knowledge, understandings, skills, and attitudes that they need in order to maintain and enhance their personal well-being and physical development.
2. Movement Concepts and Motor Skills - in which students develop motor skills, knowledge and understandings about movement, and positive attitudes towards physical education. Relationships with Other People - in which students develop understandings, skills and attitudes that enhance their interactions and relationships with others.
3. Healthy Communities and Environments - in which students contribute to healthy communities and environments by taking responsible and critical action.

Through these strands our teachers plan and teach various topics as a unit or by integrating concepts with other areas of the curriculum.

In some instances we work with outside agencies to add value to our programmes.

Kuratau School's Health Statement:

Curriculum Statement: In Health and Physical Education the focus is on the well-being of our students themselves, of other people in their whānau, and of the wider community through learning about health-related and physical movement contexts.

Essence Statement: Health and Physical Education helps students develop a lifelong commitment towards maintaining a healthy and positive attitude towards their physical, emotional and mental wellbeing.

Our current Health and Physical Education programme consists of the following:

HEALTH @ KURATAU SCHOOL
Programme	Year Levels	Frequency	Focus / Details
